

Interview Card

Rescue Robots

Helping people who need to be rescued is not just work for humans. Today, special robots are being made for rescue operations, such as after an earthquake. These robots are built to be very strong, which enables them to go into dangerous places that people cannot approach. It is hoped that these robots will help to save many people in emergency situations.

Your story should begin with this sentence: One day, Takumi's teacher was talking to the class.

With AUDIO!!

