Plants for Fuel

Today, large amounts of corn are used to produce fuel for automobiles. This makes it more difficult for people to buy corn for food. As a result, the fuel industry is considering ways to use plants that people do not eat. Some scientists are developing fuel from them. In this way, they are trying to improve the supply of corn for food.

Your story should begin with this sentence: One day, Mr. and Mrs. Hoshino decided to drive less to help protect the environment.
